Divinity Pictures and National Alliance on Mental Illness Discuss Collaboration on 'The Lost Identity'

OCALA, FLA. (September 22, 2025) - Divinity Pictures Founder and CEO Abrraham Rockferry recently met with Executive Director of the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI) Florida Carali McLean and Mental Health Consultant Marcia Monroe, LCSW in Ocala, Florida to discuss opportunities to collaborate on the upcoming Divinity Pictures feature film, "The Lost Identity." An upcoming Hollywood production, "The Lost Identity" is a multicultural psychological crime-thriller that sheds a light on one of the world's most pressing needs today: mental health.

"We believe that storytelling has the power to break stigmas and spark critical conversations that help heal even some of the deepest invisible wounds," said Abrraham Rockferry, Founder and CEO, Divinity Pictures. "By partnering with incredible organizations, like NAMI Florida, we can amplify voices, raise awareness and create a lasting global impact that extends far beyond the screen."

Worldwide, 1 in 8 people live with a mental health condition, reminding us that this issue transcends borders, cultures and communities. Yet, stigma and lack of understanding continue to silence the crucial conversations that help those struggling with mental health.

"The Lost Identity" takes audiences deep into the minds of its central characters, unraveling their psychological struggles that mirror real-life experiences faced by approximately 1 billion people around the world. The film blends gripping storytelling with a meaningful message: love is the greatest healer of all.
